

Philadelphia. September. 23rd /40.

My Dear Madam,

The accompanying books, were intrusted to me, by Miss Anna Knight, of Chelmsford England, with a request that I would transmit them to you, for the next fair of the Boston Female A. S. Society.

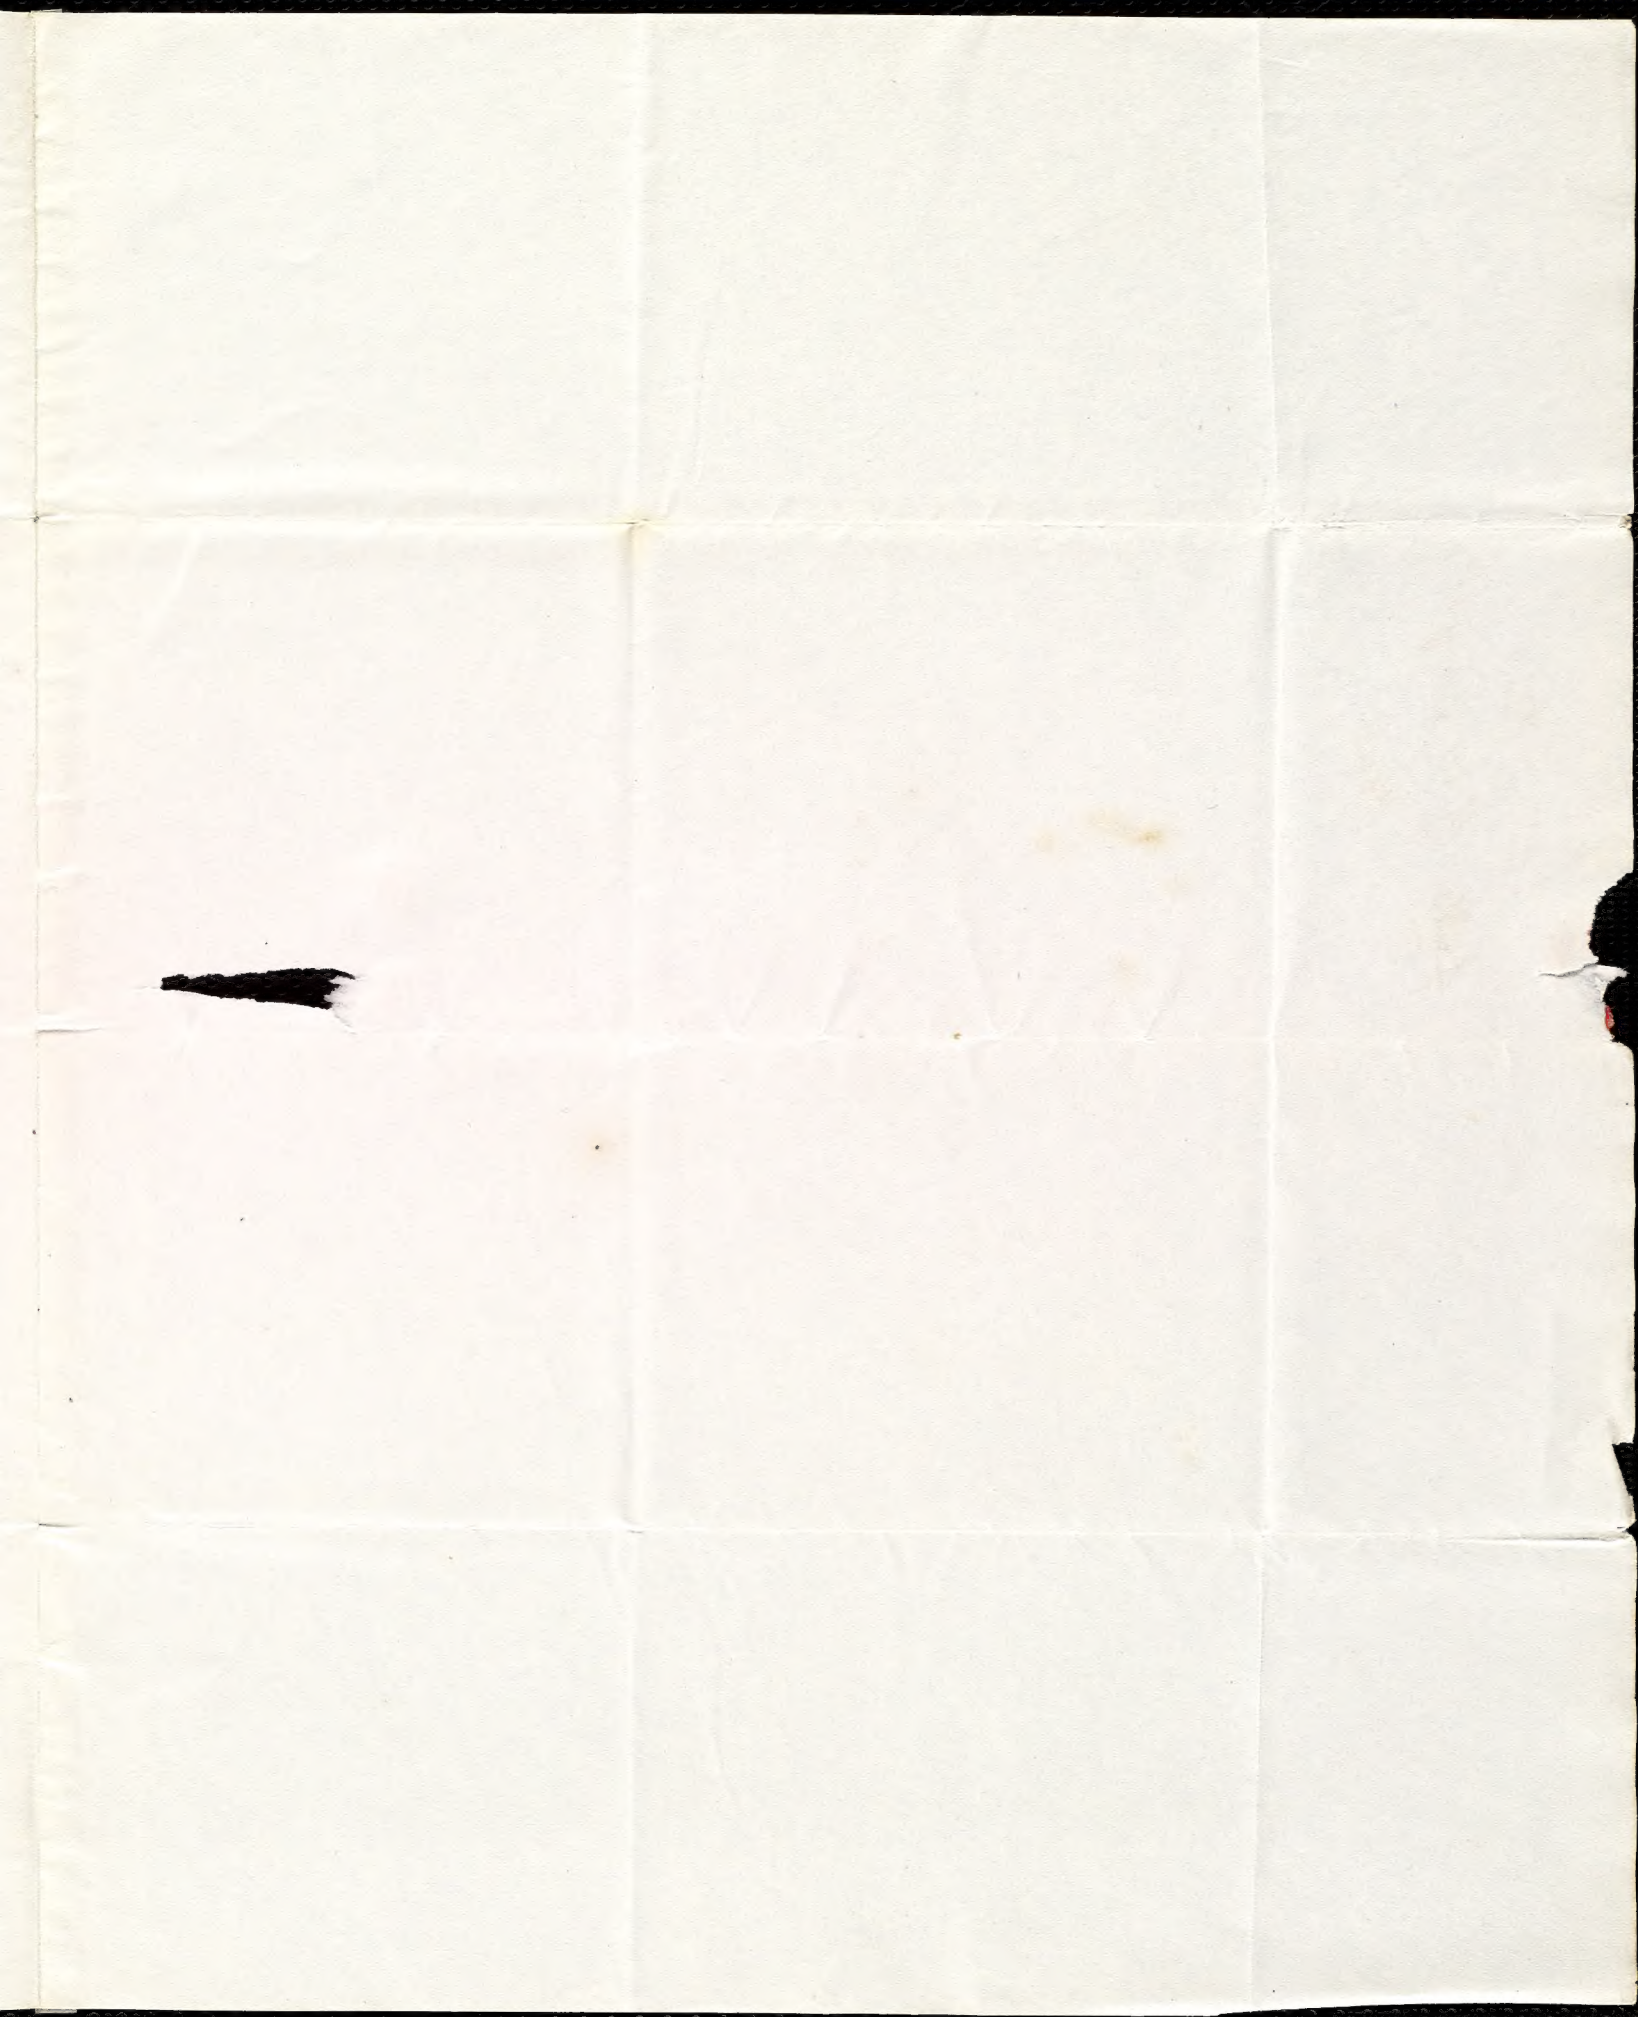

Miss Knight, with many other friends, deeply regretted your absence from the World's Convention, (or rather from that Convention which was to have been the World's) and expressed great desire to see you. She read to me a part of a letter which she sent to you, by the Acadia, some portions of which, I hoped you would think worthy of a place in the Liberator.

I had the pleasure of meeting our cousins, Wendell and Anne Phillips, in London, and was sorry to find that Anne's health was not restored. They have gone to Germany, and propose to spend the next winter in Paris. But perhaps you have received later intelligence from them.

Please to present my respects to your sister, and believe me, Madam,

Respectfully Yrs.
Mary Grew.
